

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ALL CLOTHING AND TWEEDS PURCHASED FROM US CUT FREE OF CHARGE.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

ROBBIN & FORD'S ADVT.

NOTICE

BOARD OF AUDIT

AT THE COURT HOUSE.

On Tuesday, the Nineteenth day of October, A.D. 1880.

PUBLIC AUCTION.

THE AUCTIONEER.

THE OLD RELIABLE

HARNESS MANUFACTURER.

SHOCKING SUICIDE!

On Thursday night, about ten o'clock, a gentleman who had evidently seen better days, was seen by the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

SPENCER'S OLD STAND, NAPANEE.

J. F. McALISTER & CO.

CHEAPSIDE

Has witnessed many successful Millinery Openings, but the one held on Saturday, 25th instant, eclipsed all in magnitude of stock displayed, beauty of decoration and attendance. Crowds thronged our store all day, and at night we were filled to overflowing.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN

Who have visited displays of this kind in the large Cities of the United States and Canada assured as they have never seen anything approaching to ours. We showed over sixty pairs of Lace Curtains, and that is only a small portion of our stock.

CARPETS. CARPETS. CARPETS.

Over 50 different patterns of Tapestry, Brussels and Wool Carpets, and to use the expression of one of the ladies present, "Many persons who could not get supplied in Carpets and Lace Curtains from such a stock must be extremely fastidious."

Every person was surprised at the Tremendous Stock of Fur and Wool Goods displayed on the Third Flat. Please note the fact that We are prepared to sell Fur of all kinds at less than Book-Bottom Prices this season.

FURS AND WOOL GOODS.

We are now acknowledged headquarters for these goods. On Saturday night one counter the whole length of the shop was covered with Black and Colored Gros Grain Silks, trimmed with Real Lince, and was greatly admired.

CLOTHES AND TWEEDS.

The opposite counter was trimmed with Gen's Furnishings, Shirts, Collars, Ties, Gloves, Socks and Scotch, Irish and Canadian Tweeds, selections from one of the largest and choicest stocks of these goods ever shown in these counties. Our Tailoring Department is full of orders from these goods, and our success in this department is due to the fact that we sell every thing, we none but the best trimmings, guarantee a perfect fit every time and no misrepresentations.

ULSTER CLOTHES.

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

We show everything new and choice in these goods, from the 12 1/2 cent a yard. Our BLACK CASHMERE were brought from the late arrivals, and will be found fully ten per cent cheaper than those shown by other houses.

Our Wools and Silks can scarcely be equalled for value.

See our Window Displays, etc., to order in the latest styles and quantities at prices. We want several up.

BLINCH & SCOTT.

BLINCH & SCOTT.

BLINCH & SCOTT.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.

...the nightwatchman to steal quietly from his residence and walk in a hurried manner down Centre street in the direction of the River, acting all the time in a very strange manner. The nightwatchman, thinking there was something wrong, concluded to follow him. On arriving at the centre of the swing bridge he was horrified to find that the man had divested himself of his coat and vest, and actually plunged into the water. On his coat was pinned a note saying the reason for the rash act was that he had not purchased his clothes from J. F. McAlister & Co., and had them out by Max. Fox, the only Fu-tu-class Cutter in Town.